Message from the Finance Officer Desk

The Finance Department of the University is a fundamental piece of the University Administration without which the smooth working of the University can scarcely be envisioned. It is the Custodian of Trust Funds, Endowments and all the moveable and immovable properties of the University. For smooth release of the money related exchanges and support of transparent and precision, the Finance Department has been separated into different Sections which are going by various Joint/Deputy Finance Officers. Each Section has its own particular allocated work and works autonomously to arrange with different Sections of the Finance Department as well as with various Departments/Offices/Functionaries of the University. The Department is discharging its duties in an efficient and transparent way without prejudice to any Office/Department. Through its Internal Audit Office, it exercises adequate check over the financial transactions of the University and scrutinizes various records pertaining to revenue and other receipts/expenditure to ensure that correct accounts are maintained without any error and leakage of revenue.

As a Finance officer of the Davangere University, endeavor to the best of my capacity to take after the Rules and Regulations completely and dependably expect the same from my associates of this Department. I alongside my associates am constantly prepared and willing to stretch out ideal participation to different Functionaries and students to determine their financial issues with strict adherence to the Rules. Participation from the University Functionaries, students and staff is likewise required for the smooth, transparent and proficient working of this Office.
